CONGRESS ENDS WITH SONG

HOUSE MINSTRELS LAMPPOON THE SENATE FILIBUSTER.

Kind Words for Mr. Fairbanks and a Bromstick Parade and a Parody for Speaker Cannon—President on Hand and Crowded Galleries in Both the Houses.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Congress adjourned to-night sine die. The closing scenes were enacted near the hour of midnight. The galleries of both houses were crowded, most of the visitors being women, who showed the deepest interest in the proceedings on the floors, which were punctuated with frequent recesses.

President Roosevelt arrived at the Senate side of the Capitol about 9 o'clock and went directly to the President's room. He was accompanied by Secretary Root, Secretary Garfield and William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the President. As soon as the Senate learned unofficially of his presence a recess was taken for thirty minutes to enable the Vice-President and Senators to pay their respects. The President's visit to the Capitol was to facilitate the signing of bills.

The President was in a very happy frame of mind. He laughed and joked with all his visitors. Some of his visitors were invited over into the corner of the room for a story, and it must have been a good one judging by the resounding laugh that followed.

Secretary Cortelyou arrived shortly after the President's party and joined them. He came as Secretary of the Treasury to make an examination of the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill and other measures of less importance relating to his Department.

Secretary Taft and a party of friends came to the Capitol about 10:30 o'clock and took up their headquarters in Senator Lodge's room. The Secretary held quite a reception. Among his callers was Vice-President Fairbanks.

The first measure signed by the President was a joint resolution continuing in office certain special employees of the Department of Justice.

Never before was such a scene witnessed in the House of Representatives as that which furnished the climax to the good natured fun of closing night of this session. A committee, having been dispatched to inform the President that Congress was ready to adjourn, there was for a time no legislative matters to occupy the attention of the House.

Suddenly there appeared at the main door a procession headed by one of the pages modelled after Wardie's fat boy, wearing a Republican whip and Representative Dwight of New York, who here aloft on a broom a campaign picture of Uncle Joe Cannon. Following came two score members of both parties with flags and singing as they wandered down the centre aisle:

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching."
An original verse to the tune was sung by Representative Cole of Ohio, as follows:
Here's to dear old Uncle Joe, one we love where'er we go.
He's the chief and gallant leader of us all.
North and South and East and West, in the States we all love best.
We will sing and cheer for one the people king.

The Speaker was pleased with the demonstration in his honor, members and visitors rising and joining in the chorus with great delight. Responding to a demand for a speech Mr. Cannon thanked the members for their expression of good will, adding that he would "rather deserve the commendation of the membership of the national House of Representatives than to deserve any other tribute of praise from any other body on earth."

Representative Tawney then sang two verses of the lyric tribute to the Speaker written several years ago by Representative Sibley of Pennsylvania and adapted by the singer to the tune of "I've Smoked My Last Cigar." Just then a tremendous shout from the galleries told that a mysterious something was dividing attention with the carolling and, turning, the members saw Representative Heflin of Alabama running down the aisle bearing aloft on a cane a picture of Bryan.

Jumping upon the reporters' desk he shook it high in the air over the Cannon benches, while the Democrats yelled with delight. But for a moment only. Representative Barchfield, the Pittsburg giant, grabbed the broom from Mr. Dwight's hand and leaped alongside Heflin, who was now joined by Davenport and Houston. He hoisted the Speaker's plug a foot or two above that of the Nebraskan. The Democrats, determined not to be outdone, jumped to the clerk's desk, where Mr. Barchfield followed, still towering above the trio.

At last despairing chance to outdo Barchfield Mr. Houston tried to mount the Speaker's desk, with disastrous results to the furniture and the nerves of the spectators as they saw him miss his footing and fall back. Fortunately he escaped injury.

As Houston made his unfortunate leap Mr. Barchfield threw the broom and its picture to the press gallery, where willing hands caught and waved it as Bryan's picture went down in the crowd. Willie Houston and every one else yelled at the top of his voice at the conclusion of the curious contest, which resulted as all contests in the House have a way of doing, in a victory for Uncle Joe.

When order was somewhat restored the Speaker mildly suggested that for the rest of the session the disorder be as quiet as was consistent with lack of order.

One of the song hits of the evening was a parody on the Democratic filibuster, sung to the tune of "Go Tell Aunt Suesie." This was the chorus:
Go tell Sharp William the filibuster is dead,
The one he's been urging with all his heart and head.
"My Country, 'Tis of Thee," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe" and "Dixie," also were sung, the galleries joining in the choruses.

Adjourning the House, Speaker Cannon said:
"I want to thank the membership of the House for its uniform courtesy to its presiding officer. We all take pride in the national House of Representatives. I have served in many Congresses. The personnel of the Sixtieth Congress is quite equal to that of any in which I have had the honor to serve."

HOUSE HOORAYS FOR SENATE

And Proceeds to Agree on Public Buildings Bill Conference Report.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—It was exactly 5 o'clock when Chief Clerk Cannon announced to the House that the Senate had agreed to the conference report on the currency bill. Wild applause broke out on the Republican side. For the first time this session handclapping was accompanied by cheers.

Applause was renewed on both sides with laughter as Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri was recognized to move that the rules be suspended and the conference report on the public buildings bill be agreed to. Thirty-five minutes later John Sharp Williams, who was entertaining the House with some remarks on the "hold up" of the buildings bill, permitted the Speaker to interrupt him to present "An act to amend the national banking law" with his signature attached.

Mr. Williams had some unpleasant things to say about the quality of a Republican House which, according to Mr. Bartholdt's assertion, could be induced to maintain a quorum not by its desire to meet necessary public business but to insure the passage of a bill containing appropriations for a few paltry public buildings in the various districts of members.

Mr. Bartholdt declared that the "hold up" of the conference report until the currency bill was passed was his personal and individual act and he assumed entire responsibility for it. Four votes were cast against the public buildings report—Alexander of Missouri, Crumpacker of Indiana, Fitzgerald of New York and Longworth of Ohio.

IT WAS AN AMERICAN RECORD.

Senator La Follette Champion Talker of All Congresses.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The feat of speaking eighteen and a half consecutive hours on the currency bill gave Senator La Follette championship honors. The record that he surpassed was that made by Senator William Vincent Allen of Nebraska in 1893 in a filibuster against the repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman bill. Senator Allen spoke fourteen hours and ten minutes at one stand on that occasion.

Senator Carter of Montana is in the list of heavyweight champions also. His record made in March, 1900, when he talked eight or nine hours a day for several days until he had succeeded in killing the river and harbor bill.

RIFLED MAIL ABOARD SHIP.

Cabin Passenger on the America Caught at It and Locked Up.

The Hamburg-American liner America, which arrived in New York last night after spending most of the morning and afternoon in the easterly gale outside the Hook, had one of her cabin passengers, A. Rumler, in custody, charged with tampering with the Imperial German mail.

While the big ship was in the fog in the morning Capt. Knuth decided to give his men something to do and had them bring the mail destined for South American ports, including Puerto Caballo, Venezuela, and other points, to the open deck while the sea stewards stood guard. One steward reported seeing broken envelopes, newspaper wrappers and torn packages going over the starboard side into the sea.

A force of men, including Second Officer Ulderup, went over to the mountain of sacks on the starboard side and found Rumler plunging his hands into an open sack.

He was seized and taken before the captain. He appealed to his captors to let him remain in the cabin, but he was refused. He had found nothing of value in the letters he had opened. He will be taken to Ellis Island to-day and the German Government will ask to have him returned to Hamburg for punishment for tampering with the Kaiser's mail.

HEAD OF ESCORT BUREAU SUES

For Breach of Promise, but the Young Man Has Gone to Sea.

Miss Anna C. Schneider, president of the New York Accommodation Bureau of 1418 Broadway, which supplies friendless women in New York with escorts and chaperons, is suing William G. Turner for $10,000 damages for breach of promise. Young Turner lived with his parents at 777 Melrose avenue, The Bronx, until last Thursday night, when it is alleged he sailed for Europe. He has, however, been served with papers in the suit. Young Turner is an expert musician. Recently he has been employed as an automobile demonstrator. Before that he worked in the Night and Day Band. It is said. He is about 23 years old, while Miss Schneider is described as 3 years younger. January 18 is alleged to be the date on which Turner proposed. The ring was to have been forthcoming on April 11, but it wasn't. Then, after waiting a while longer, Miss Schneider brought suit.

Turner's family refuse to talk about the affair. Last night, however, the boy's father, William A. Turner, intimated that the suit would be resisted.

GREET'S HIS RICH NEPHEW

Who Went Seafaring Twenty Years Ago and Accumulated a Pile on the Pacific.

Arthur Galloway, who disappeared mysteriously twenty years ago from the home of his uncle, Capt. Joseph Hatfield, at 55 South Eighth street, got back yesterday. He was a boy when he decided to go seafaring and slipped off to Boston without letting anybody know. After trips to many lands he became master of a ship of his own on the Pacific Coast. He built up a coastwise trade and prospered, getting Government contracts for delivering supplies at army and naval stations in Alaska and elsewhere.

As months and then years went by and the Hatfield family never received any tidings of Galloway they began to regard him as dead. All the family died except Capt. Hatfield, who lives alone at 55 South Eighth street. He is more than 70 years old. A few weeks ago Capt. Galloway undertook to find out what had become of his relatives. He advertised for information of the Hatfields in a New York newspaper and Capt. Hatfield had his attention called to it by a friend. The captain communicated with Galloway, who started for the East last week. When he reached the Grand Central Station yesterday his uncle was there to greet him.

Capt. Galloway will remain here two weeks and when he returns to the Pacific Capt. Hatfield may accompany him.

$500,000 FROM ROCKEFELLER

TO ADD A HOSPITAL TO THE ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE

In Recognition of Dr. Flexner's Discovery a Cure for Cerebro-spinal Meningitis—Developing New Methods of Treatment Will Be the Hospital's Specialty.

John D. Rockefeller has made a gift of $500,000 to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research for the purpose of erecting and equipping a hospital which is to join the present institute buildings at the foot of East Sixty-sixth street. The gift was announced at a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday by the reading of the following letter:

26 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, May 26, 1908.
DEAR MR. HOLZ: Understanding that in the judgment of your board a hospital building is desirable in order to facilitate the work of research for which the institute was founded, my father will provide, for the purchase of land and the erection and equipment of a suitable hospital building, whatever amount may be necessary up to a total of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000), payments to be made as the work progresses.

My father thus enlarges the scope and possibilities of the institute in grateful recognition of the services of Dr. Simon Flexner, as director, rendered in those orderly and progressive scientific investigations which, sanctioned and encouraged by your board and aided by his learned associates and assistants, led him at length to the discovery of a cure for epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis. Very truly,
JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.
DR. L. E. HOLZ, secretary, Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

The board of directors has had the subject of a hospital under consideration for more than a year and has been at work developing plans with York & Sawyer as architects. The building, though small when compared with many others in the city, has been designed with a view of studying the nature and the treatment of individual cases of disease with a thoroughness not now possible in other places. The hospital has been planned and will be equipped for the purpose of developing new methods of treatment and applying the results of the latest researches to the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

To this end it will contain elaborate provisions for the fresh air treatment of patients by balconies, upon which the beds can be rolled directly from the wards, by roof gardens where patients can be accommodated in all weather, and by special departments of hydro-therapy, of electrical treatment and other approved methods.

It will contain private rooms as well as public wards, and a special diet kitchen where food can be prepared and diets arranged in a scientific way.

The purpose of the hospital thus will be not so much to provide accommodations for the many as, by careful study and treatment of the few, to develop new and more exact methods which may be applied elsewhere upon a larger scale.

MEDIUMS SHY OF CONJURERS.

Offer of Prize for Levitation of a Table Withdrawn—No Takers.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
PARIS, May 30.—Of all the feats performed by the noted Italian medium Eusapia Paladino during her recent visit to Paris none caused more discussion than when she caused a table to rise. Dr. Gustave Lebon and Prince Roland Bonaparte as a test offered a prize of $100 to any medium who raised an object from the floor without touching it in full daylight.

The offer has now been withdrawn after remaining open for a month, as nobody accepted it. Five mediums expressed their ability to perform the feat, and two accepted the conditions but failed to appear on the appointed day.

The conditions provided that the test must be performed in the presence of a cinematograph apparatus and also before two conjurers. Dr. Lebon believes that the presence of the conjurers was the cause of the reluctance of the mediums to accept the test.

ONE A DESERTER, ONE A THUG

And Twenty-eight Physically Unfit—Bingham Turns Them Down.

It was learned at Police Headquarters yesterday that the reason Commissioner Bingham turned down two of the thirty probation policemen whom he refused to take into the department last Thursday was that one was formerly a member of the Monk Eastman gang and the other was a deserter from the United States army. The others that were turned down physically unfit for the time being.

TURK PLEADS HYPNOTISM.

Young Castaway in Paris Murders Sister and Nephew of His Benefactor.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
PARIS, May 30.—Mehmed Ali, leader of the Turkish community in Paris, befriended recently a poor countryman of his, a medical student named Rehid Mustapha, providing him with board and lodgings in his mansion on the Boulevard Haussmann. Early to-day, after having spent the night rambling about the Latin Quarter, Mustapha went home and stabbed to death the sister of Mehmed Ali, the Princess Fatima, and her son, Prince Sulah, while both were asleep.

Mustapha admits the crime. He declares he was the victim of the hypnotic suggestion of a doctor who has mesmerized him on several occasions.

NAPHTHA LAUNCH BLOWN UP.

Man Killed and a Dozen Injured in Mishap on the Delaware.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—By an explosion on a naphtha launch on the Delaware River one man was killed and nearly a dozen other persons were injured, some of them seriously, late this evening.

The man who was killed was John Schmidleiger of 3009 Radnor street, the owner of the launch.

FOG WRAPPED STEAMER STICKS

Off Hyannis, Mass., and the Life Savers Can't Get to Her.

HYANNIS, Mass., May 30.—A steamer struck on Nansett Beach in the heavy southeasterly gale late to-night. Her lights were discovered by a patrolman from the Old Harbor life saving station shortly before 11 o'clock. He burned his signal to notify those on board that the vessel's plight was known and notified the station.

The crew was sent to the beach opposite where the steamer stuck, but it was found impossible to launch the surf boat owing to the high seas which were running, but it is believed a line can be shot aboard if the fog lifts enough to give a good view of the craft.

The steamer is lying about a fifth of a mile off the shore, and the occasional glimpses caught of her by the surfmen seemed to indicate that she had gone ashore bow on. It has been impossible to make out the size or identity of the vessel, but she is known to be a steamer from the lights carried. She doesn't seem to be in any immediate danger.

GUN, BIBLE AND BEDOUINS.

The Rev. Norman McLeod's Story of Encounter With Brigands in Asia Minor.

According to a story related by clergyman who got back yesterday aboard the White Star liner Celtic from a journey through the Holy Land, a Bible and an American revolver of the largest pattern were used with effect on brigands that tried to hold up a party of pilgrims, all of whom were from the United States, and two other ministers while near the ruins of Ephesus saw men in pursuit of them and took to their heels. They reported their experience to their friends of the cloth, and the Rev. Norman McLeod of Ontario—not the Edinburgh Norman McLeod—and five other clergymen started out. Mr. McLeod being in the lead and on horseback.

Three Bedouin bandits stopped him. He handed them several buttons he had taken up in his last collection and then advised them to wait for the five others, all American pastors with millions in their congregations. The bandits waited gleefully, while Mr. McLeod surreptitiously began unlimbering his artillery.

The first of the five to reach the bandits, according to Mr. McLeod, was the Rev. Mr. Duke. He was asked to put something in the bandit's palm, and said that he would rather read a chapter, or if that was too tedious a verse or so from St. Paul. He began to read with solemnity and the robbers put their guns back on their backs. Mr. McLeod had his big revolver headed toward the robbers by this time.

They fled, Mr. Duke says, because of the power of Scripture. Mr. McLeod says Mr. Duke should have given the Yankee revolver some credit too.

TRACING $25,000 IN JEWELS.

First of Series of Arrests for Burglary Made in Memphis—Gems Sent to New York.

MEMPHIS, May 30.—According to the local police, jewels valued at $25,000, owned by Mrs. Garrett Lamb and daughter of Clinton, Ia., and lost on February 12, when Mrs. Lamb and Miss Lamb were playing bridge at the residence of F. G. Jones in this city, will be recovered within forty-eight hours, from porch climbers who have been located and placed under detention.

The first arrest occurred to-day when Harry Bernstein, a pawnbroker and jeweller, of this city was lodged in jail under indictment for receiving the stolen property.

According to the police, Bernstein has stated that he shipped the gems to Nathan Rosenberg, a jeweller at 23 East Broadway, New York city, a relative of his. The police say Rosenberg's New York residence is 106 East Fifty-fourth street.

The story told by Bernstein to the local police was that he shipped the gems to New York but that when the box arrived it was empty. In the meantime Joe Dolan of Omaha, Neb., and Johnny Long, a noted crook in the Western States, are detained in connection with the case.

The robbery of the Jones residence created a sensation. Mrs. Jones was entertaining a house party when porch climbers entered the second story, taking valuables from the rooms. The arrests were playing bridge at the time. Guests will follow in several cities, it is said.

JOHN MITCHELL FOR GOVERNOR.

Democratic Leaders in Chicago Think He Will Be a Candidate, but He Won't Say.

CHICAGO, May 30.—John Mitchell, ex-president of the United Mine Workers of America, who is in Chicago to-day, and conferences with several Democratic officials and labor leaders. That Mr. Mitchell will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Illinois is the prevailing belief among local leaders before he had been in town many hours.

Mr. Mitchell was reticent about the subject and would not make a definite statement respecting his probable decision. It was declared, however, that he would make an announcement at the meeting of the State Federation in Springfield on June 15. If the Republicans nominate Taft and Johnson should win at Denver, Mitchell probably would become a formidable figure among the Vice-Presidential possibilities. The Democratic politicians who favor Johnson insist that the Minnesota, with Mitchell as his running mate, would have practically the solid support of the labor vote.

GREAT AEROPLANE FLIGHTS

DELAGRANGE STAYS 15 MINUTES IN THE AIR; WINS $10,000.

Farman Covers More Than a Kilometer Near Gand and Also Gains a Prize—Zeppelin Plans an Aerial Trip of 1,800 Miles—Big British Balloon Race.

Special Cable Dispatches to THE SUN.
ROME, May 30.—At dawn to-day Delagrance made a record flight with his aeroplane in the presence of representatives of aeronautical societies recognized by the French Aero Club, including the president of the Aeronautical Society of the United States.

There was a light breeze when Delagrance started. The machine first covered 100 meters (more than 100 yards) on the ground and then arose and without again touching the ground remained in the air 15 minutes 26 seconds, covering 12,750 meters (about 13,800 yards) at a height of from 4 to 7½ meters from the ground and circling the Piazza d'Armi ten times with the utmost facility.

Delagrance won the prize of $10,000 for a record aeroplane flight.
PARIS, May 30.—Last March M. Charron wagered $2,400 against $1,200 that an aeroplane carrying two persons would not cover a kilometer within the year. Henry Farman, M. Archdeacon and Santos-Dumont accepted the offer.

Farman and Archdeacon won the wager at Gand to-day, covering 1,241 meters, or 241 meters more than the limit in the wager.
LONDON, May 30.—Count Zeppelin is at Lucerne taking a rest before attempting a great flight to Koenigsberg and back. It is estimated that the distance is 1,380 miles. Zeppelin's new airship is the fourth of its kind to be built. It cost $100,000 and will be ready next week.

The trials have been held over Lake Constance. Three 140 horse-power Daimler engines have been fitted to the body of the airship. Zeppelin estimates that they will drive him at a fifty mile gait against a moderate wind. The airship is now complete, with the exception of searchlights for night use and wireless apparatus.

What is described as the biggest and most important balloon race ever held in England started this afternoon from Hurlingham. It was organized by the International Aeronautic Federation to mark the conclusion of the London congress of that body.

Thirty competitors started, representing Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium. C. F. Pollock of Yorkville, the largest competitor, won the contest, alighting within a mile of the winning post.

SHOT GIRL, KILLED HIMSELF.

Tailor Puts Two Bullets into Sweetheart Because She Accepted Other Lovers.

Herman Atkin, 29 years old, a tailor, formerly of Boston, shot his sweetheart, Pauline Perdeski, in her flat at 628 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, last night, and then shot himself in the temple. Atkin died before Dr. Holst of Seney hospital got to him, and the woman may not live.

Atkin came to this country about a year and a half ago from Russia with the Perdeski family. Pauline had two sisters, Mrs. Matiale Nitkin and Anna Perdeski. Atkin became infatuated with Pauline and they were engaged to be married. Neither had enough money, the injured girl said at the hospital, and Atkin went to Boston to work and Pauline got employment in Manhattan. According to the sisters Pauline kept company with other men. Atkin called last night for an explanation. After supper the two went into a room by themselves.

Three revolver shots were heard and the sisters ran into the room. Atkin, still holding the revolver, was stretched out on the floor lifeless. Pauline was groping about the room. She had two bullet wounds, one in the neck and the other in the shoulder. According to Pauline Atkin became excited when she told him that the reason she had not married him was because she was engaged to another man, Jacob Soffer, and was also lover of Michel Tirdich, who lived in the flat below her. Then he pulled the revolver.

THREAT OF CHICAGO UNION MEN.

10,000 Carpenters to Strike if Leaders Are Punished for Contempt of Court.

CHICAGO, May 30.—"Every union carpenter on all building operations affected by the sweeping injunction of Judge Carpenter's court will lay down his tools the instant one of their number is arrested and remain on strike every day of the prisoner's incarceration. This is a 'secret' agreement affecting 10,000 union carpenters and which will be invoked if sentence on three labor leaders for contempt of court is carried out.

It is said that habeas corpus writs may be issued by another court saving from imprisonment the men sentenced by Judge Carpenter. There is a strong possibility, however, that Daniel Gavin, secretary-treasurer of the carpenters' district council, alone will be punished.

Rockefeller's Son-in-Law Had to Put Up His Watch as Security for Fine.

CHICAGO, May 30.—"But, Judge, I haven't $10," protested Harold McCormick, son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, when arraigned before Justice Lane of Glenoco and fined $10 and costs for speeding his automobile this afternoon. "You will have to pay your fine just like any one else," was the reply.

They feared that something had happened to him, as he was paralyzed in one arm and in the back. About 11 o'clock they found him and started back through the fog.

After having spent all night in the boat they got to Wright's Point, near Fort Schuyler.

SENATE HOLDUP IS SMASHED
